

CBT-I Patient: About how long on average does it take for people to see improved results in their sleep when implementing restriction of time allotted for sleep?

CBT-I Clinician: The program is five weeks because it typically takes five weeks to see consistent improvement in sleep using CBT-I. However, many people will begin to see improvement after 1-2 weeks reducing excessive time allotted for sleep if they are doing so consistently.